The Chalmers-Hill Controversy.

EXPLANATIONS.

It has long been known in Forfarshire and adjacent counties that the inventor and proposer of the Adhesive Postage Stamp, the man who supplied what may be termed the engines to the otherwise immovable craft of Penny Postage Reform, was James Chalmers, bookseller, Dundee. When—about 1845—the merchants of the City of London handed their cheque of £13,000 to Mr. Rowland Hill in acknowledgment of his services, the citizens of Dundee, then a town not a quarter of its present size or population, not to be behindhand in asserting the share of their townsman in the work, got up also their subscription, and, as of late years I have learned, on the 1st January, 1846, in the Town Hall of Dundee, and in the presence of the Provost, bankers, and leading citizens, James Chalmers was presented with a Testimonial in recognition of his having been the originator of the Adhesive Postage Stamp, and, for other the hope of arresting the misapprehension now being circulated in regard to the matter of the official correspondence between our respective Editors—a correspondence removed from the Treasury by Sir Rowland Hill, but which I maintain should have been there left—Mr. Pearson Hill has it in his power to circulate just so much or so little of same as he may think proper. It would be doing injustice to the gentlemen to whom these private appeals are made to suppose for a moment that they can be led away by any such secret representations—their answer will be, "Publish your case if you have one that can stand the consequent investigation, as Chalmers has done, and same will receive every consideration, but your private attempts to influence us we reject and repudiate. Failing this, we shall conclude you have no case." And this, too, I trust will now, in common fairness, be the reply of the hitherto silent members of the London Press, prevented as they have been through misrepresentation acting upon long cherished delusion from, in many cases, so much as even favouring my productions with a perusal.

PATRICK CHALMERS,
Hon. Member of the Société Internationale de Tempérologie, Paris, and of Ten American Philatelic Societies.

La vérité

SUR LES FAC-SIMILÉS ESPAGNOLS 1850-54

QUALIFIÉS DE «FAUX» par MM. Maury et Yvert & Tellier

C'est particulièrement aux collectionneurs français de timbres-poste que s'adressent ces lignes, destinées, dans l'esprit de leur auteur, à jeter une lumière éclatante sur les procédés abusifs et discourtois mis en pratique par certains individus qui, sous le fallacieux prétexte de renseigner et de guider les philatélistes qui se fient bénévolement à eux et qui prennent pour parole d'Evangile les élucubrations malintentionnées répandues périodiquement par eux au moyen de feuilles à leur solde, ne font en somme que propager les erreurs qu'ils savent leur être profitables, au grand dam des honnêtes gens assez simples pour s'y laisser prendre.

L'auteur de cette brochure demande donc au lecteur assez d'attention pour parcourir jusqu'au bout

PROLOGUE.

SINCE the introduction of the adhesive postage stamp there have been but two serious challenges to the monopoly our Postmaster-General enjoys in the issuance of postage stamps in this country. His monopoly rests not so much upon the stamp as the service the stamp denotes, the service of collecting and carrying letters and packets, and his letter-carrying privileges have been secured to him for three centuries, during which time they have only rarely been assailed.

Our current Post Office Act, Section 34, is not materially different from earlier Acts in providing that

The Postmaster-General shall . . . have the exclusive privilege of conveying from one place to another all letters except in the following cases, and shall also have the exclusive privilege of performing all the incidental services of receiving, collecting, sending, despatching and delivering all letters, except

(a) Letters sent by a private friend in his way, journey, or travel, so as those letters be delivered by that friend to the person to whom they are delivered.

(b) Letters sent by a messenger on purpose.

With the early infringements of Dockwra's Penny Post, Povey's Halfpenny Post, and Williamson's Edinburgh Post we are not now concerned. But in considering the interesting series of stamps issued between 1871 and 1885 by the college authorities of Oxford and Cambridge, it is well to recall that these stamps were introduced at a period when the Postmaster-General had just lately secured a judgment on Appeal in the Courts, in Trinity Term, 1868, over the Circular Delivery Companies, which are the only other instances of postage stamps issued in this country without the sanction or licence of the Postmaster-General.
